Union County Public Library Offers Online Access to Value Line Investment Guide

August 18, 2016, Monroe, NC - Union County Public Library is pleased to offer online access to Value Line, one of the most highly regarded and widely used independent investment research resources available. Library card holders can access this premium investment tool from any location with Internet access.

Value Line offers comprehensive investment research covering 1,700 stocks across 100 industries, representing 90 percent of the market capitalization of all stocks traded in U.S. markets. The library's electronic subscription includes Value Line's weekly Selection & Opinion, Summary & Index, and Investment Survey as well as up-to-the-minute articles, reports, and commentaries. This powerful investment tool allows users to conduct in-depth research on stocks, follow model portfolios, and create stock screeners from hundreds of screening criteria. Value Line also provides an excellent investment education section which includes both print and video materials. Whether as a beginning investor or a veteran looking for high-impact ideas, library users will find that Value Line can position them for financial success quickly and easily.

A valid library card number is necessary to access Value Line remotely, but the resource is available without a library card at all library locations. As the uncontested authority in reliable, unbiased information, Value line gives Union County Public Library users the power to evaluate investments with confidence and make smarter, more profitable investment decisions.

For more information, please contact the Reference Staff at 704-283-8184, ext. 232 or visit any Union County Public Library location.
